BEST BREED "MUSHERS" TO CARRY MAIL OVER ALASKAN COASTS

Harry Kavanagh and His Malamutes Ready for a 700-mile Mail Trip.

(By JACK JUNGMEYER.)
COLD BAY, Alaska, Aug. 22.—For every letter he carries over winter-bound trails to the lonely men of the interior, the Alaskan mail runner risks his life many times.

"Send me the best you breed," is Uncle Sam's demand for his mushers. And that's the kind of man Harry Kavanagh is.

Kavanagh beats across the toughest mail route in Alaska.

From Cold Bay to Dillingham, on Bristol Bay, and back is 700 miles.

Behind his wolfy, ferocious Malamutes, Kavanagh makes the round trip in about 20 days.

Most of the going is across the treacherous ice of frozen lakes and water courses. Many times he has gone through, beating the deadly cold in freezing limbs to reviving fire by a few minutes.

The dogs for that kind of traveling must be hard, splendid beasts. That means they are of the wildest, toughest, fighting Malamute strain. Such is the pack Kavanagh drives, and times without number they have disputed with him for mastery—disputed with slashing rang and cunning lunge.

Last year they killed the mail carrier's native trail companion in a runaway when the sled careened against an obstruction. Twice they have wounded Kavanagh in similar frenzied dashes.

But that same wild energy has time and again saved him from death when all depended upon their stamina.

The contract with the government calls upon this man to carry 200 pounds of mail each trip. It is worth more than its weight in gold to the isolated soundings to whom it means heart-warming contact with wives, children, mothers and friends on the outside.

"No peril," said Kavanagh. "is too great to face when you know what your coming means to these mail-hungry fellows in far camps."

"Blizzards, open icy water to wade through, hunger, savage dogs, thawing dogs' harness by the little oil stove when you'd sell your soul for sleep after the day's run—these are all in the routine work."

For that Kavanagh gets $350 a month during the winter season.

But this year Uncle Sam hasn't managed to get the money it owes him to Kavanagh, though he's supposed to receive it in four installments. In addition to this, the carrier has paid $700 expenses out of his own pocket.

Kavanagh, however, does his part. And the mail goes through.

Thomas, of Fairmont, Saturday, August 19, a daughter.

Miss Genevieve Jones has returned to her home in Moundsville, after several months in town visiting with her brother, Donley and family.

Miss Ethel Pratt has returned to her home in Salem after spending several months in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Williamson have returned from Wheeling where they were visiting with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Grimes, of Keyser, W. Va., are here for a visit with the latter's father at his home on Buffalo street.

Mrs. E. E. Hamilton attended the Sturm re-union near Shinnston Sunday.

JAMES S. LAMBIE KILLED.
Jame S. Lambie, a former resident of Fairmont, was instantly killed last night near Davis, W. Va., when a bolt of lightning struck the electric light pole on which he was working.

Mr. Lambie was a brother-in-law of H. L. Troxell, Fifth street, and was still a member of the First Presbyterian church, of this city, and a thirty-second degree Mason. He will likely be brought to this city for burial.

Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Casteel, of Washington, D. C., are guests of Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Crane, on Fourth street.

Evening Chat

The fact that the official thermometer kept by Frank Hall has never registered more than 97 degrees this summer has led some people to doubt the veracity of this instrument. This high mark has been registered almost a dozen different times now and on many other instruments about the city reached the extreme mark of 98 and even in one or two instances reached 100 degrees and over.

The highest temperature officially recorded for Fairmont last year in any month was also 97. The high 97 mark last year occurred on July 31, while in August the highest recorded was but 95 and even this was a hang over from the day before as it occurred on August 1. This summer which has been considerably warmer than the summer of 1915 the high 97 limit was first reached early in June. During July and this month 97 has been reached many times since.

Whether this strange co-incidence of the thermometer failing to record more than 97 is due to its location or to a fault in its construction is not known. It is certain however that the temperature downtown has on many days gone far above this mark. The official thermometer is located in a kiosk which is arranged according to the specifications of the U. S. Weather Bureau. This kiosk stands in the rear of Mr. Hall's residence on Fifth street, between Fairmont and Walnut avenues. Perhaps the elevation and the breeze which usually stir over that section of the city keeps the air cooler than it is down town at the same time. Or this strange fact may simply be another manifestation of the "long invisible arm of coincidence."

If you go camping beware of what you eat and drink, warns the State Health Department. Don't drink any water without first noting if it is pure. Don't drink from any large stream without first boiling the water. There is much typhoid in our streams. Don't drink from any cup used by other people and don't use any towel used by others. Don't drink from a well into which the rain water can run from the surface. Many vacationists contract typhoid fever while on their trips. This can be prevented by getting vaccinated against the disease before starting on the trip. Anti-typhoid vaccine is injected in three doses at intervals of a week.

The milk found at farm houses is often filthy. If it contains any sediment it should not be used. It is always safer to boil the milk in the summer before giving it to young children. Babies or very young children should not be fed tomatoes, cucumbers, cantaloup, berries or peaches.

Don't buy any milk or other food from a farm where sickness is known to exist unless the attending physician declares it safe. Don't buy any vegetables which have been fertilized by human excreta.

At the camp flies may be more dangerous than at home. Keep them off the food supplies.

WRECKED NERVES

STEADY AS CLOCK

Said J. E. ("Uncle Jake") Smith and Gave the Credit to Nerv-Worth.

Here is the story of a man whose eczema or at least that disease's serious effects were overcome by Nerv-Worth. This signed statement is worthy of every reader's attention.

Crane's Drug Store—I want to make a statement to you endorsing Nerv-Worth, the wonderful new Nerv-Tonic you have for sale at your store. I have suffered for seven months with Eczema—attendance of five different doctors did me no good. All the medicine prescribed never reached my case. I could not say too much in Nerv-Worth's favor. I had a stubborn case of Eczema. For two weeks I sat in a chair with my eyes swollen shut—entirely closed. Was afraid to lie down on account of smothering. I have not used quite one bottle of Nerv-Worth. My nerves are as steady as a clock and I sleep all night. Appetite good, general condition improved. In another month I'm satisfied I'll return to my trade. During this terrible suffering of eczema I would scratch and tear my flesh and could get nothing to relieve me until I tried your medicine, Nerv-Worth. I cheerfully recommend Nerv-Worth and am glad to talk to people about its wonderful curative power.

People call me "Uncle Jake."
